THE UNION SCHOOL

The first schoolhouse in Brighton was built on the Grand River Trail in 1837, east of Hope Street. The small log cabin was built prior to the organization of a school district, which means that many of the residents had to walk more than two miles to school. As a result, many children were left out of school. In 1855, a new schoolhouse was built on Main Street and served the community until 1950.

The triangular site selected was located at what is now Ann Arbor Road (Rickett's Road) and Grand River Trail. It was purchased from Mrs. W. and Spaulding W. Case in 1867 for the sum of $987.50. The new building, constructed of brick, was completed at an expense of $10,400. There were not many furnishings in those days, but this building had one. There was a large register usually called the "big hole in the floor".

By 1879, the number of children in the district between 5 and 20 years old, increased from 46 to 267. The number of teachers employed increased from one or two to five. As the years went by, the school developed a more elevated character, until it became a graded system and teachers capable of instructing in languages, sciences, etc., were employed. By the late 1880s, it provided for a 10th-grade high school education.

The purpose of the Brighton Area Historical Society is to preserve, advance, and disseminate knowledge of the history of the Brighton Area.

The membership is composed of people who feel the above purpose is worthwhile and should be promoted.

RECAP MAY 13 GENERAL MEETING

Beginning with a pot luck and following a short business meeting, Bob Tuttle and John Moffat of the Commerce Township Historical Society presented a slide program showing the various styles of early headstones and the manner in which the fashions have changed. Dismay was expressed at the vandalized condition of the Brighton Cemetery by the Mill Pond. Many of the Area's earliest settlers are buried there. The next General Meeting will be held on September 9. Contact a board member with suggestions for programs. Next Board meeting will be Thursday, June 12, 7:30 at the Old Town Hall.

OLD TOWN HALL COMMITTEE

The committee has been working on a presentation to bring to the Brighton City Council regarding the future of the Old Town Hall and the use to which it is to be put. ROLISON HARDWARE ADDITION COMMENDED
The recent addition to the Rolison Hardware, 111 W. Main, prompts congratulations from the Society.
Recognition of the many fine architectural elements in the existing building has made the addition successful. With sensitivity to detail, traditional elements found in the original building are included in the new addition. The recessed entry and large plate glass display window; a transom window over the display window was tastefully added; brick detailing and the use of limestone for lintels and cornerstones are examples of traditional elements of classical main street store front designs not often found in modern construction.

BRIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL CENTENNIAL JULY 4-6
You're an alumnus of Brighton High School (or know one) but haven't received your announcement of the celebration? Please go to Jarvis Men's Store, 205 W. Main, they have extras. The Invitation Committee can only send to those for which they have addresses. At last count the committee did not have lists for the classes of 1915, '16, '18, '19, '20, '24, '26, '27, '34, '37, '47, '79. If you have an address for those of any of the above years, please call Brighton Community ED., 227-7650. Responses indicate alumni coming from Virginia, Florida, etc.
Activities being planned for the celebration include bus tours of the area, a family picnic, dance, Memorabilia room and a parade. Parade participants should contact Dick Davis, 229-6566. Alumni Band participants should contact Janice Beach, 229-6787. T-shirts, mugs, etc., commemorating the event have been ordered. These should be bought individually or as a package. Be sure to get yours.
An adversary diploma for those who graduated 50 or more years ago will be given at a special ceremony. Some class reunions are scheduled for the weekend.
Local businesses have been contacted for financial support. Your support of these businesses will be appreciated. The Post Office is planning a special cancellation in commemoration of the centennial. A printed tour guide is planned.

ADAPT A ROGGY WHEEL
In June Leo Sullivan will begin restoration of the buggy donated last fall to the Society by Michigan Bank-Livinston, i.e., 227-2590, will need help. Don't know how to do this? No excuses, please. Leo will give all the information needed. The work will be done. If four people each take a wheel it will complete the process much more quickly. Anyone who would like to help with the restoration of the body of the buggy should call Leo also.

In too much to dream the buggy will be finished in time for the High School Centennial Parade, July 5?

ROLLISON HARDWARE ADDITION COMMEMERATED
The recent addition to the Rollison Hardware, 111 W. Main, prompts congratulations from the Society.

Rollisons is to be commended for choosing this design over the many options available by keeping the new addition compatible with the original and with Main Street as a whole. The Society would encourage future changes to other buildings in the area to recognize that good design is always in style.

The first schoolhouse in Brighton was built on the Grand River Trail in 1837, east of Hope Street. The small log cabin was built prior to the organization of a school district, which means it would not have caused any problem to the residents. It seems to have been built to serve the community, rather than to make a profit. (Another source indicates it was built in 1835 by Mayor Malby.)

During the next ten years the Brighton-Genoa fractional district No. 5 was formed (with an irregular boundary containing about 5 square miles so only a few children had to walk more than two miles to school). As the village grew and the citizens became dissatisfied with the cabin, it was sold and a house on W. Main Street was rented and used for a school until 1850. At that time a new schoolhouse was built on the northeast corner of Spencer and East Streets. This building served through the Civil War years until the "Union" school was built.

The triangular site selected was located west of what was then Ann Arbor Road (Nickett just south of the Grand River Trail). It was purchased from T.C. W. and Spaulding N. S. Case in 1867 for the sum of $487.50. The next year the building, constructed of brick, was completed at an expense of $10,400. There were not many fences in those days, but this school had one. There was a large register usually called the "big hole in the floor".

By 1879 the number of children in the district between 5 and 20 years old, increased from 46 to 267. The number of teachers employed increased from one to two to five. As the years went by the school developed a more elevated character, until it became a graded system and teachers capable of instructing in languages, sciences, etc., were employed. By the late 1800s it provided for a 10th grade high school education. An enrollment increase, grades one through twelve were taught. The first graduating class, 1887, consisted of two young ladies. It soon became necessary to rent vacant stores to accommodate grades one through four. Those rooms had been occupied by various ventures: saloons, wool storage and grocery stores and were in a sad state of repair. Understandably, parents of children attending were dissatisfied with such facilities, but those were difficult times and everyone knew it was beyond their means to do much about the situation. In retrospect it appears those beginning students did not suffer adversely from the lack of a proper facility; proving the old adage "you can dip water as fast from a pond as from the ocean."

Early in 1900, a state law required outlying districts (usually the one room schools) to pay the high school tuition for students in their districts. This brought several students from the surrounding townships. Not a large percentage of children went beyond the 8th grade. In 1907, an elementary schoolhouse was built north of the Union School for grades one through four. This has been known as Nickett School. (Edited from "A Scrapbook of Michigan Memorabilia" by Dr. Fless and the first Brighton High School Annual, 1930.)
