The Indians were the first to feel the effects of the migration of people into the Brighton area, the first to be displaced by an influx of newcomers. Most who have lived here for the past 50 years are very aware of the changes which have taken place more recently. The flood of people moving to the Brighton area since the 1950s is not the first time its population has fluctuated since its formation in 1837.

When the Grand River Plank Road was completed in 1850, between Detroit and the new Capitol in Lansing, travel was made easier for new settlers. The Civil War and the post bellum depression slowed the pace somewhat. The coming of the railroad in 1871 caused another shortlived boom. The village, especially, benefited from the houses being built by retiring pioneer farmers. More stores, the Western Hotel and churches were built. The Panic of 1893, the Spanish/American War, WW I and the great depression all had an impact on the area's economic growth and progress. (These events caused an exodus of young people who sought work in more industrialized areas.) Following the Spanish/American War the auto and improved roads made it possible for people from the "big city" to buy property on the area's many lakes for summer homes.

By the turn of the century, farmers produced crops which brought money into the economy from outside the area. Businesses, professionals, and tradesmen were almost entirely dependent upon the farmers' efforts for their livelihood. The white farm houses, red barns; plowed, fields; crops of corn, beans and potatoes in straight rows; waving wheat and oat fields, meadows of red clover and Timothy hay gardens, orchards, woodlots and pastures with fat black and white cattle all combined to give a picture book appearance of a prosperous community, of which anyone would like to be a part.

Today the era of the family farm in the area is about over. Woodlots and fields are becoming homesteads for the many who want to be a part of this bucolic lifestyle (as it appears to the newcomer). Greenfield Shores #1, 2, 3 and 4 was one of the early subdivisions, being platted in 1958 by Lowell Marvin. How it came to be called by its popular name of Lake of the Pines is still a puzzle to this writer. Located in the SE ¼ of Section 28 and the NE ¼ of Section 33, this area was first taken up by Wm. T. Tunis and Wm. S. Conely in 1834 and B.B. Kirchival and J.L. Briggs in 1836. By 1857 Cyrus Morgan owned 124 acres in the NE ¼ of Sec. 28. In 1859 Eli L. Scoles owned 60 acres in the NE ¼ of Sec. 33 and W.S. Conely and A. Belner owned 80 acres each in the SE ¼ of Sec. 28. In 1875 W.W. Wheedon and S. Grant owned 80 acres each in the NE ¼ of Sec. 33 and N.G. Morgan and Geo. W. Warner owned 80 acres each in the SE ¼ of Sec. 28. By 1915 C.B. Grant (a descendant of S. Grant?) owned all of the area of Lake of the Pines except that owned by Warner and Joe Leski.

Grant farmed the area which was low, moist, muddy soil, with celery, onions and other products which would grow well in those conditions. The lake which is there now was probably formed by springs in the area. (Condensed and edited from 1880 History of Liv. Co., "Michigan Memorabilia" by Wm. Pless and with the help of Joe Ellis, Livingston County Clerk. To be cont.)

GENERAL MEETING - TUESDAY, JANUARY 12

The location of this first General Meeting of 1988 will be at Lidbinon Elementary School, 1010 State Street. (Main Street west to town, then north.) The pot luck dinner will begin at 6:30. A brief business meeting at 7:30 will be followed with a short talk by Tom Lath, a life long resident of the area, on some of his memories of life in Brighton a few years ago. Tom will conduct a question period following his presentation. The public is invited.

Tom is one of many area residents with prodigious memories and is willing to share them. All General Meeting programs this year are planned to take advantage of the wide variety of local talent available.

Have a preferred topic or person you'd like to hear? Would you like to make a presentation? Contact a board member.

Thurs., Jan. 7, 7 p.m., Board Meeting at the Old Town Hall.
Thurs. Feb. 11, 7 p.m., Board Meeting.

EDITIORAL

(Toughts to preserve by from Historic Preservation magazine.)

Wide streets in small towns are memorials to expectations.
Vacant buildings are unfair game.

Someone should make a study of the buildings you never look at.

Architectural detail was developed in the days when people walked.

Many people spend their lives looking for a hometown.

The facts of history without the lessons are only curiosities.

Given enough time "old and worn out" becomes "historic and in need of restoration."

FINANCE COMMITTEE

The Post Card project is underway. Two sets of six different sites each will be mailed. The design and printing of the picture to be printed on the back of the card must still be prepared.

The 1987 Tiles are here! With the Western House as its subject, this fourth in the series of early Brighton area scenes is a limited edition of 300. Available at Jarvis' Men's Store, O'Her's Drug Store, Citizens and the Chamber of Commerce for $7. All proceeds go to the Historic Preservation and Restoration Fund. Some 1986 (Union School) and 1985 (Pere Marquette Depot) are still available.

The Nine Patch Quilt to be raffled, needs someone to give it a boost. The material is available - cutting and stitching is next on the agenda.

The Sixth Annual Spaghetti Supper is set for February 19, 1988. Mark your calendar. Plan to promote this event and bring your friends. (Some help can be used in the supervision department also.)

SEQCENENTIAL PIONEER AWARDED TO FRANK SEGER AND LYLE HARTRAM

Frank's forefathers arrived in this land on the Mayflower. Hiram, his great-grandfather, received a land grant of 160 acres in the Redford area in 1831, as remuneration for having served in the Revolutionary War. Via the Erie Canal and Lake Erie he and his family of seven brought two wagons of possessions from New York state. Six more children were born after their arrival in Michigan. The youngest, Wm. Henry

The Annual Christmas Raffle really went well again. Many thanks to all who bought raffle tickets for the wooden sled made and donated by Joe Chemoweth. Eleanor Linesmeyer was the delighted winner of the sled. The yarn wreath went to Phil Walsh and the yarn candy cane to Joanne Bellmard. These were made and donated by Ruth Ann Cole.

Knapping paper with a picture of the four townships of southeastern Livingston County and Brighton. This trunk is being considered as a future fund raising project. Some work has already been done on this - a project chair-person is needed to complete it.

The Signature Quilt project needs your attention. Send your signature and a $10 donation and it will be embroidered on a quilt which will remain with the society as an exhibit of those people who have some connection with the area. Be sure you and your loved ones are included.

Harrison Seger, Frank's grandfather, came to Brighton. Mayor of the town at one time, he was a plumber by trade, digging wells by hand. One well was 110' deep.

Ilye's ancestor, Martin John, immigrated to the U.S. from Aalshef, Germany in 1829, to New York. The family then settled on 80 acres in Genoa Township in 1836, when Martin Van Buren was president. His son, one of seven children, built the red brick house on Chaliss Road. This home, still standing, has been carefully restored. The Hartmans had a kiln at the back of their property by the railroad tracks off Bauer Rd. Bricks for the first Catholic Church were fired there.
