A July 12, 1899, Brighton Argus article noted that “Island Lake is now a flag station for all except the two fast trains”. In the period before and after the Spanish-American War the National Guard Encampment for Infantry and Cavalry units was located just east of Island Lake at the railroad crossing at Academy Dr. (This is now within the Island Lake Recreation Area.) A Michigan Historic Site marker memorializes the site. Excursion trains brought wives and friends out for a Sunday visit with the Guardsmen. A 1915 Atlas still shows an Island Lake Station on the north side of the tracks at that location.

Farmers, especially, had been looking forward to the arrival of the railroad. This meant their grains, livestock, fruits and other produce could be transported to market by a more convenient, certain and quicker means than the plank toll road they’d used. The plank road had done its job for over 20 years but the times and the demands were changing. Land doubled in value (with resultant higher taxes) but with an economy based on agriculture good times were anticipated. Merchants also could enlarge their inventory. Mail would be conveniently sent and received along with newspapers and magazines from all over the world. The entire family could visit friends and relatives oftener and fairs, concerts and other events easily reached. Young people could now find a job in another city, or attend a distant university. Life in Brighton could only get better.

The reverse of the coin revealed another picture. Newspapers told of train accidents, the stagecoach and the livestock drover were put out of business. The lives of many were changed, not always for the better.

We are aware the railroad was not the final word in transportation. Within 40 years the gasoline engine came into its own. Innovations are a fact of life. It is up to us to adjust. The only thing of which one can be sure is change. Ready or not it’s continually happening.

MEMBERSHIP

Couples/Indiv: Betty Adams, Rita Altenberg, Ted & Doris Carmack (94), Milton Charbonneau (Pinegem), Lila Robertson (CO).

Board members are appreciative of the continued support of new members. Persons not yet members, or those who haven't renewed, are invited to promote the efforts of the Society. It is hoped persons receiving Trail Tales would want to help foot the bill for its printing and mailing. Volunteers see to the preparation and distribution. (But the printer and the Post Office need to be paid.)

THANKS THANKS THANKS

Dave Barton for the mowing, etc., he's been doing at the Lyons School.
D. Fuller for the snapshot of Bert Miller in front of the Old Town Hall when it had its white fire hall doors.
Don Keehn for the first cash donation to the Lyons School Historic Site Marker Fund.
Leota Mason for the clippings, books and other items of local historical value.
Mahtia Beilicke for the popular throw rugs which will be offered for sale at the Art Fair.
Janet Kohrbacker and Alice Sevick for the information they gave about early cemeteries.

Interred remains of one of the two cemeteries which were located on General Motors Proving Ground property were to have been moved to a cemetery in Milford. These include the second family cemetery to have been buried in an enclosed area. It has been recently learned that headstones bearing the names of Bird family members have been located on private property on Pleasant Valley Road within 1 mile of Proving Ground property.

Questions:
1. Were any remains from the Bird cemetery ever moved to the Milford cemetery?
2. What was the name of the other cemetery located on F.O. land?
3. Were there any cemeteries located on that property?

PRESErvATION AND RESTORATION

ARCHIVES: The several boxes of newspaper clippings and other memorabilia of local historic merit donated by Leota Mason have been reviewed and are being included in the archives. Items of interest to other historical groups have been forwarded to them. Contact Marianna Blair, 229-6402, if you have items of local historic value. Copies can be made and the originals returned. The copies will be kept.

In 1938, Brighton celebrated a centennial anniversary. The Society has a few pictures of that celebration. It is believed a book was prepared but not much other information has been located. No copies of the book, or pictures out there? These should be included in the archives, or at least copies of them.

RUSTY: Lack of insurance, and a horse, precluded the Society exhibiting the newly restored buggy in the recent Independence Day parade. Donations are being accepted for insurance and the cost of restoration.

LYONS SCHOOL: The historic site marker fund is off and running. The first donations were received from Don Keehn. There are many alumni of Lyons School who will, it is assumed, want to be included as a donor to the marker fund. Checks should be written to the Society, P.O. Box 481, Brighton, noting it's for the marker fund.

A donation to this fund will make an appropriate memorial honoring a loved one and securing the success of the project.

The Society has 50(1)c3 status with the I.R.S. Donations are income tax deductible.

GREEN OAK TOWNSHIP HISTORICAL SOCIETY is holding their Green Oak Day, Saturday, August 14, 2-4 p.m. Bring your picnic lunch and folding chairs. You can eat by the old mill stream and tour the restored Gremse Mill located on the west side of Huxton Road, between Nine and Ten Mile Roads.

RESOURCE COMMITTEE

ART FAIR: Janice and Chuck Beach, 229-9678, have accepted the chairmanship of the Society booth at this annual event, August 14 & 15. The booth will be located at the corner of N. West Street and W. Main. If you are called to give a few hours working at the booth, you'll find it an enjoyable experience. Tilden, magazines, memberships, cookies, lemonade, etc., will be sold, but the main purpose of the booth will be to acquaint the community with the Society's presence. A cash donation for supplies or a few dozen cookies will be a fine way to show your support of the Society and its purposes.

BAKE SALE: Jane Tomlinson, the Society's regular, dependable chairman of this project is planning a bake sale in September. She'll be in touch. You make it a 'makeless' bake sale with a cash donation to the Society.

RAFFLE: A Christmas raffle can be conducted if someone donates an item.

SIGNATURE QUILT: A signature of Bert Miller has been donated. It will be included on the quilt because of the donation from the Beaches. Other signatures of Brighton area residents of the past are available. Your donation of $10 will include them on this archive.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER: Friday, September 17. A chance for you to help and have a fine dinner. If you can't come consider a donation.

TITLES: Anyone have an '84 or '85 tile they wish to sell? The Society has buyers. Be sure to get the more recent issues before they're gone. Uber's Drugs, Society bank or call 229-8496 to get yours.

A July 12, 1899, Brighton Argus article noted that “Island Lake is now a flag station for all except the two fast trains". In the period before and after the Spanish-American War the National Guard Encampment for Infantry and Cavalry units was located just east of Island Lake at the railroad crossing at Academy Dr. (This is now within the Island Lake Recreation Area.) A Michigan Historic Site marker memorializes the site. Excursion trains brought wives and friends out for a Sunday visit with the Guardsmen. A 1915 Atlas still shows an Island Lake Station on the north side of the tracks at that location.

Farmers, especially, had been looking forward to the arrival of the railroad. This meant their grains, livestock, fruits and other produce could be transported to market by a more convenient, certain and quicker means than the plank toll road they'd used. The plank road had done its job for over 20 years but the times and the demands were changing. Land doubled in value (with resultant higher taxes) but with an economy based on agriculture good times were anticipated. Merchants also could enlarge their inventory. Mail would be conveniently sent and received along with newspapers and magazines from all over the world. The entire family could visit friends and relatives often and fairs, concerts and other events easily reached. Young people could now find a job in another city, or attend a distant university. Life in Brighton could only get better.

The reverse of the coin revealed another picture. Newspapers told of train accidents, the stagecoach and the livestock drover were put out of business. The lives of many were changed, not always for the better.

We are aware the railroad was not the final word in transportation. Within 40 years the gasoline engine came into its own. Innovations are a fact of life. It is up to us to adjust. The only thing of which one can be sure is change. Ready or not it is continually happening.

A REVIEW OF THE CEMETERY VISIT JULY 17

Those attending, at Fairview Cemetery, learned the procedure for transcribing a cemetery, i.e. how to locate a burial site in such a manner that you or another can easily find the site in which you're interested.

Mit Charboneau, our guide, reminded us that the Brighton Memorial Gardens, across the road from Fairview, is another cemetery in need of transcription. Contact Mit, 878-3680, for more information.

Genealogist and historian, Janet Rhorabacher, among others, informed us that the congregation at St. Patrick's Catholic Church was a mission church for many years. Protestant residents of the area subscribed $5000 towards the cost of the first church building which apparently was located in the area which now encompasses Calvary Cemetery. (This was about 1864.)

At the time when the Village Cemetery at the mill pond couldn't accept any more burials the village fathers found it difficult to decide where to locate another cemetery. But people kept dying and were, apparently, stored somewhere since it took over four years for a new cemetery to be located. St. Pat's priest allowed the burial of Protestants in their cemetery in recognition of the earlier support shown in the building of their church.
